Hello,

Cameron Skorulski has been a full-time student in the Bachelor of Design program at Capilano University since September, 2023.

During this time, he has shown himself capable of conceiving and executing high-quality work in my classes, with considerable risk-taking and exploration in several instances. His commitment to his studies has been unwavering.

He has contributed to his cohort of 25 students in a supportive, holistic way, proving himself a team player by offering helpful, articulate feedback to his peers and also welcoming it from others and acting on it. He brings a kind, considerate manner to his interactions.

I'm confident Cameron would be an asset to any creative team. If you have any further questions in considering him, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Cordially,
